

Boulder Rifle Club Junior Highpower Program

Boulder Rifle Club has an active Junior Highpower Program focused on competition. Juniors get special coaching from club experts, have access to AR15s for practice and competition, shoot weekly during the season, and get a special break on ammunition (which they load themselves, after extensive training). After sufficient familiarization, juniors are encouraged to compete in matches in Colorado and surrounding states, to ready themselves to compete in the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. Juniors who demonstrate commitment to the program and reach adulthood may be able to purchase the competition-quality rifle they have been using at a special price and get considered for early membership in the Boulder Rifle Club.

During the season (April – Sept) we meet Thursday afternoons, 4:30 – 6:30PM. During the off-season, we have classroom instruction and reloading on alternate Thursdays, 4:30 – 6:00PM. Reliable attendance and responsible behavior are required.
